

HUDSON LAKE IS CAPTURED BY THE LOCAL GROCERS

South Bend Shops Were Deserted Wednesday While Butchers and Grocers Make Merry on Shores Along Lake.

When 1,200 or 1,500 people packed themselves into interurban cars to attend the grocers' and butchers' picnic at Hudson lake Wednesday morning, it looked like it would leave a big hole in the population of South Bend after the cars had pulled away from the station.

It is doubtful whether the city could get along without them more than the next day as with their going every grocery and meat market in the city closed and housewives who found themselves without a loaf of bread, were surely unfortunate.

Beginning as soon as the party arrived at the lake, the grocers and butchers took place amusing the large crowds until the last car left the resort at 11:30 o'clock at night. The party went prepared for an all day stay, carrying with them enough to eat for both the noon and evening luncheons, and after the day had been spent in games and contests at Smith's resort and athletic field, the party spent the evening rowing about the lake or in dancing on the floors of Fischer's dance hall.

Luncheon the Feature. Outside of the ball game probably the feature of the day was the big luncheon, which no one could prepare better than the grocers and butchers. There was everything from cakes and buns to sausages and chicken. The party gathered about the tables near the Smith hotel or at the Fischer grove for the meal and as both the picnic grounds were well filled with picnickers it made the largest single picnic held at the resort this year.

But the ball game, most interesting event of the day turned out just as the grocers would have it. It was played between the grocers and butchers and the United Commercial Travelers and the G. and B. won, 26 to 13.

Although the U. C. T. team, which in fact played its first game since it organized a few weeks ago, took several extra players with them they were unable to keep pace with the hustling grocers and butchers who also presented a long lineup which was continually shifted until even the score keeper lost track of the players. The U. C. T. players lost out at the beginning, their opponents having won a lead of over a dozen runs in the first three innings. As the game progressed they were able to muster sufficient strength to drive about a dozen men around the circuit when Ralph M. Seeley, who was umpiring the game, made up his mind that nine innings had been played and the game was brought to a close.

He'd Fight for Order. There was no one present who would disagree with the decisions made by the umpire as he came prepared to have his decisions final. When he was asked to umpire the game several days ago he made arrangements with the local police and borrowed a belt on which was fastened a rusty revolver and a policeman's billy and when the first quarrel arose which took place in the second inning the umpire retired to the side of the field and after that when a man was called out he was marched from the field as fast as possible with the muzzle of the rusty pistol pointed at him.

Gaffs caught for the U. C. T. players, while Young, Smith and O'Day each took a turn at throwing. Other players for the U. C. T. team were Starn, Bailey, Hart, Duffee and Jackson. No record was kept of the players of the grocers' and butchers' team.

E. A. Tuttle, manager of the Travelers' team, is getting his team arranged to play with the U. C. T. league, made up of teams from Ft. Wayne, Marion and Lafayette lodges. Arrangements can be made with the manager of the team for local games as he hopes to give his team a few practice games before entering the league games to be held next month.

The ball game between the old and young grocers and butchers was called off because of the rain and the time was devoted to other events. A long list of prizes were won in the various contests. Frank Hanauer was astonished to learn that he won the prize to be given to the couple caught spooning on the grounds. He says he did not even have a girl, but Hanauer got a long stick or candy, any way. The horseshoe contest was won by E. Peffley, D. Hollister and Crofoot. Helen Walworth and Lauretta Bickel won the prizes given in the egg race for girls.

Blindfold Contest. The ladies' blindfold contest was won by Mrs. Reed and Miss Tilt, and the gentlemen's blindfold contest by Korpai. Miss Tilt and Mrs. Reed won the prizes in the blindfold wheelbarrow contest for ladies, and Miller won in the contest for men. J. A. Kauffer and H. S. Bishop won the 50-yard dash for men, and Mrs. Schrader and Mrs. Richmond won in the women's race. Otis Romine contributed an additional prize to these winners.

It looked for a time as though no one would be able to win the honors as being able to climb the greased pole, as among the long list of entries and would-be climbers only four succeeded in being able to drag themselves through the auto soap and reach the top amid the cheers of the large crowd. They were Raymond McCoughen, Chas. Gail, John Walworth and Paul Noland.

M. Mace and Max Gross won the prize for being able to drive the most nails in the shortest time. The boys' running race was won by J. Rowe and Wm. Matzenbaugh. The sack race was won by Carroll Beyers and L. Waters. Ruth Allman and Helen Walworth won the girls' running race and the first four mile race was won by Otis Romine, who hopes to win as easy for the office of city judge in the campaign next fall. The ladies' ball throwing contest was won by Mrs. M. Knepp and Miss Marie Clute. The executive committee that had charge of the plans for the picnic were Louis H. Rulo, D. F. Baer, J. C. McCullough and F. W. Brodbeck. The entertainment committee were H. Striebel, L. McCullough and Edward Peffley.

MACHINES MUST BE PARKED DURING CONCERT

Precaution is Taken to Prevent Accidents in Case Fire Wagons Pass Court House.

Automobilists who attend the band concert on Saturday night will be required to park their machines for the first at this week's concert. All autos must be placed on the east side of Main st. between Jefferson boulevard and Washington av. This rule has been put into force as a precaution in case the fire trucks are required to go down Main st. while the band is playing. The firemen will then lose no time waiting for the cars to get out of the way.

Officers will be in charge of that one block on Main st. and as the machines come up the drivers will be instructed where to put their autos. The machines must be backed against the curb facing the band. This will allow more room and permit any driver to leave at any time without waiting until several other cars move.

Owing to the noise made by motorcycles, these machines will not be allowed to go along Main st. while the band is giving its program.

HAS NO CONNECTION WITH HIGH SCHOOL SOCIETY TAKES ACTION WHEN IT LEARNS IT IS IN VIOLATION OF STATE LAWS.

COLUMBUS, Ind., July 24.—Representatives of the Palatia XI sorority here have announced that the organization no longer has any connection with the high school. The sorority formerly had a rule that none but high school girls might be pledged, and this was a violation of the state law against high school secret societies.

There will be no high school requirements in the future, it was announced, for membership, and any girl in the city may be pledged. The sorority has a number of chapters in Indiana and Ohio, and the new ruling applies to all of them.

ELKHART, Ind., July 24.—Elkhart's new general hospital, completed at a cost of $80,000, is to be opened for public inspection on Saturday and Sunday afternoons of this week, and for the reception of patients on Monday or Tuesday of next week. Every modern convenience known for the care and comfort of patients is a part of the institution and the equipment is the best that money can buy.

The movement for the erection of a new hospital had its inception four years ago when the Elkhart Academy of Medicine called a meeting of citizens to discuss the project.

BLINDNESS CUT SHORT CAREER

Peter Vandemeer is Playing Violin on Streets to Pay His Way to Los Angeles.

Peter Vandemeer, a blind violinist who claims that a brilliant career was cut short by his affliction which came upon him a few years ago, is in South Bend and is giving a series of street concerts to pay his way to Los Angeles where he says he has a sister living.

Vandemeer, a shabby, pathetic figure with an old violin case clutched close to his side, makes his way hesitatingly through the streets feeling his way with a cane. He is just able to distinguish light from dark. "I am a great artist," Vandemeer says in the quiet accent of the Hollander, "but I have had a great misfortune."

His misfortune came upon him, he claims, while he was leader of an orchestra in Alabama. He contracted the measles and they affected his eyes. For a while he was totally blind. His savings were all spent in an effort to regain his eyesight.

Finally he was sent to the New York home for the blind where he had the benefit of treatment by Dr. Price, a famous eye specialist. Four weeks ago the physician dismissed him with the encouraging promise that his eyesight will be restored to him. It will come gradually, he claims, the physician told him, but is sure to come. At the end of a year the physician promised the violinist he would be able to read music again.

Vandemeer, cheered by the words of the physician, put his old violin under his arm and started out to make his way across the continent. From New York he went to Philadelphia, from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh, from there to Detroit and from Detroit to Chicago.

In each city he fiddled his way, on the street corners and before hotels. "And everybody was glad to hear my music," Vandemeer says.

Meets With Accident. But in Chicago he met with an accident. He was struck by an automobile while trying to feel his way across the street. He received a wound on the head that is not quite healed and which sent him to the county hospital. When he was released from the hospital a kind hearted policeman gave him a word of advice.

"Don't stay in the big cities," Vandemeer says he told him. "It is too dangerous for a blind man here. Go to the smaller towns. There is South Bend, not far from here, a nice place with many kind hearted people. Go there."

And Vandemeer came to South Bend. Tuesday evening he played before the guests at the Oliver hotel and a crowd of other people who gathered to hear him. He expects to stay in the city several days to raise money to take him further on his way.

Some day Vandemeer is going to give a concert, he says. He remembers 275 selections and can play them without music. They will last him for a year and then he will be able to read music again.

Vandemeer says he was a student of Ysaye, a famous teacher of the violin in Belgium. Before his eyesight failed him, he claims, he gave a series of concerts with Kubelik in some of the larger cities of the United States.

He was born in Holland and has no relatives in the United States except his sister, Mrs. Harkema, who lives in Los Angeles.

St. Mary's Grounds Not Open to Public

The authorities at St. Mary's have decided that hereafter the grounds of the institution will not be open to the public.

Owing to the imposition of some persons who have been freely allowed the use of the grounds, this decision has become necessary. The speeding of automobiles, besides being a menace to safety, has also aided in damaging the drive-ways and shrubbery.

Persons who have business with the institution, or have children in attendance there, will find no difficulty in enjoying the same privileges as in the past and they shall receive courteous attention at all times.

Visitor's Received

During the vacation months, visitors who wish to be shown through the buildings at St. Mary's will be accommodated on Tuesday's and Thursday's from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.
